Your account has been deactivated.

Hello Mahmudul Hasan,

We reviewed your account history carefully, and we found it violated our Terms of Use regarding returns. For that reason, we've had to deactivate your account

This means we will no longer be able to process replacements, refunds or adjustments of your past orders. If you place future orders, they will be subject to cancellation. Even if you won't be ordering from us online, you can still make purchases from any Walmart store.

If you think deactivating your account was an error, contact our Account Review Team.
